Introduction

The Test Products List (TPL) provides the flexibility customers need when purchasing HP Compaq Business Desktops d330 and d530 series and HP Business Desktop d325 through resellers who build systems with standard devices.

The TPL is a list of HP and standard third party devices that have been tested by either HP or independent test houses for basic compatibility with HP business desktops.

TPL Support Conditions

HP products are supported by HP.

Non-HP, third party products are not supported by HP. For these products, you must obtain support from the manufacturer of the third party option.

Non-HP third party products have been tested only for basic compatibility with the specified HP Compaq Business Desktop or HP Business Desktop product. This level of testing confirms proper device recognition and basic compatibility with the identified HP Compaq Business Desktop or HP Business Desktop product. HP disclaims all responsibility and liability for the manufacturing, distribution, marketing, licensing, installation, use, performance, maintenance, and support of these third party products

Qs & As

How are Third Party Options selected for the Test Products List?

Third party options are selected to represent a category of functionality. The TPL does not contain all products on the market.

What configurations of d325, d330, and d530 were tested with third party options?

Third party options were tested with a few, basic configurations. Not all combinations or possibilities were tested.

Are these the only products compatible with HP business desktops?

No. This list is only representative of the categories of devices on the market, and does not include all third party options that are compatible with HP Business Desktops.

What is the difference between HP After Market Options and Third Party Options?

HP After Market Options are fully supported by HP. Third Party Options are not supported by HP – support for these products is from their manufacturer.

Please refer to WWW.HP.com for latest matrix of HP After Market Options.

The HP After Market Options list is as of June 2, 2003.

Not all HP After Market Option kits are available in all countries.
